DE CHAPMAN'S CHURCH IN RIDGEFIELD. The new Jesse Lee Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church at Ridgefield, Conn., was dedicated on Tuesday and Wednesday. The Rev. Dr. J. M. Buckley, Editor of The Christian Advocate, preached on Tuesday morning, and the Rev. Dr. J. R. Day, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church, New-York, in the evening. On Wednesday the dedicatory sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. George Lansing Taylor, now pastor of Embury Church, Brooklyn, under whose recent pastorate the church was built. The church was dedicated by the Rev. Dr. J. A. M. Chapman, recent pastor of St. Paul's Church, New-York, who is Dr. Taylor's successor in the pastorate of this new church.

The church is notable, not so much for its cost, as The church is notable, not so much for its cost, as for its wide departure from the traditional plainness of the churches of the Methodist denomination. It is in Queen Anne style, with a brilliantly frescoed interior, and with radiant mosale windows. The nitra marine, umber, gold, and gilt mouldings of the interior almost dazzle the eye. It is a unique gen of village church architecture. The church is the third one founded by Jesse Lee in New-England, in 17:00, as shown on the superb corner-stone—a cubic yard of Quiney granite polished and lettered on two faces, and set in one of the best jointed granite walls in Fairfield County. The property is worth about $15,000, of which P. C. Lounsbury generously paid more than half, and the edifice wes dedicated free from debt.

EXPOSING THE JERSEY CITY "DEAL." MR. KEENEY'S SPEECH AT A MEETING OF TH

There was a large attendance at the special meeting of the Jersey City Board of Public Works yesterday morning, when it was expected that the "deal" made by a combination of two Democratic and two Republican members would be carried out. The expectation was not realized, owing to a technical objection, raised by one of the members, that no general business could be transacted because the meeting had been called for a special purpose. The meeting was not devoid of interest, however, as Commissioner Keeney, one of the field deal." He said:

There was a caucus at my house, and I met there Commissioners Van Keuren. Leake and Helms. I understood that it was called so that we could agree among ourselves about the division of patronage, and work together in harmony. We arranged to divide up the appointments and the committees. Mr. Van keuren said that we would be satisfied with one appointment at $1,800 a year, and I rould have two at $900 a year each.

Mr. Van Keuren—I object to all this.

Mr. Keeney—You walt till get through. I proposed to make Mr. Helms president of the board, but he said he sid not understand Inglish well enough sud the duties might confuse him. I then suggested Mr. Van Keuren for president, and he acked who would be chairman of the Committee on Sueets and Sewers in that case. I said that if the appointment of the committees depended upon me I would appoint Mr. Lembeck to that position. Then it was suggested that Mr. Lembeck be made president and that we depublicans have the committees.

To President Lembeck who tried to interrupt blim—Oh, stand up to the rack. A committee called at your office in relation to the matter. ACCUSING HER BUSBAND OF CRIME.

Charles Morini, age forty-live, was found dead in bed at No. 43 Adams-st. Hoboken, at a late hour on Thursday night. Yesterday Luigi Gugliemo, accompanied by two men and a woman, appeared at the police headquarters and told a singular story to the effect that Morini was probably the victim of a jealous husband's vengeance. The woman in the party was Mrs. Jean Baptiste, the wife of a professional French beggar in New-York. Baptiste was sent to Blackwell's Island for three months and during his imprisonment Mrs. Baptiste went to live with Morini as his housekeeper. When her husband regained his liberty he sought her out and, in a fit of jealous rage, atreeiously assaulted Morini, This was the dead of the product of the control of the product of the control of the control of the product of the control of the product of the control of t husband regained his liberty be sought her out and, in a ht of jealous rage, alrociously assaulted Morini. This was six days ago, and Gugliemo stated that Baptiste told him of his assault on Morini and advised him to go and look after him. Gugliemo thought nothing of Baptiste's etatement until he heard that Morini was dead. The Hoboken police believe that the story has been trumped up at the instigation of Mrs. Baptiste, who seems auxious to get rid of her husband, but an investigation will be made. There are no marks of violence on Morini's body.

THE LACROSSE TEAM FOR ENGLAND,

AN EXPERT'S OPINION OF THEIR PROSPECTS-THE

STANDING OF THE INDEPENDENTS.

J. R. Flannery said yesterday to a Tribune reporter that the American Lucroses team which will start for Liverpool at noon to-day on the steamship Anstra, was departing in the best possible mood, and under the best possible anashees. "The men," he said with emphasis, "are not over-confident, nor do they expect to have a series of ensy victories, but they dolb lieve that if they play every single game as hard as they did against the picked twelve I captained against them, at Hoboken on Thursday, they will win a majority of their matches. And that is my belief too. Their hardest games, all things considered, were against the Druids, of Baltimore, with whom they played three-quarters of an hour without taking, but also without losing a goal. The Druids have a strong defence in the two Pennimans, who, as point and cover point, are simply perfect. Then their two homes fleek and Ober, are great in attack. That the American team vanapulshed them is, I think, an excellent augury. I don't whether they will find in England strong a team; but they plobably will in Ireland. (mail something to do with the selecting of the men for the team, and was both delighted and surprised at the great Improvement shown by some of them. This was most marked in Cottle, of Yale, and Poe, of Princeton, who were, when they johned, somewhat below the average of the team. They are now shifning lights, and distinguished themselves by their superior playing. If the team continues to develop in the same degree, as I have no doubt it will, they will return to us with many lannels."

The delegates from the different clubs to the National Lacrosse Association held their deferred meeting to settle the question of the admission of the Independent Cine. They had been objected to on account of rough, agily play, and as they committed the same sin of bad checking at the tournament, in which they played on probation, they were rejected. But there is a strong feeling in favor of their reorganization under a new captain, because they are excellent players and good, hearty, honest fellows. They had played roughly, because they had so learned to play in Canada. It is probable that the Independents will disappear, and that the Mannahattees will be born in their stead. MISSING BENJAMIN WALLACE FOUND.

There was joy in the house of Benjamin Wallace, No. 91 Horatic-at., at 8 a. m. yesterday, when a friend of his living at Canarsie, L. L. appeared there and trated that the missing scap manulacturer was safely housed at this friend's residence in that village. Mr Wallace had been found by his friend wandering almlessly in the streets of canarsie on Wednesday evening, and had been taken to his home and kindly cared for. World was not sent to his relatives in this city, because it was believed that he was intextested and it was hoped that he would speedly recover his senses and return to his home. Mr. Wallace's nephew and business manager, John White, went to Canarsie. His uncle was too ill to be removed to this city, but will probably be brought home to-day. He is not entirely in his right mind. His response to his nephew's inquiries was "Nothing more than a little spree.—Be all right to-morrow.—Say nothing about it." This is the statement of Mr. White, who added that his uncle never drank interiching liquors, but probably on this occasion had done so. He had some property in the vicinity of Canarsie, and had wandered in that direction on Tuesday night, after he was last seen in this city. The published statement that Mr. Wallace had for some time given evidences of insanity, that he had given away several promissory notes without consideration, and that he had ordered home uscless dry goods till his sister's house, in which he lived, was filled with bores, was pronounced untrue by Mr. White.

PRESIDENTIAL PAVORITES. SOME INTERESTING FACTS CONCERNING THE MEN

WHO STAND CLOSEST TO THE CHIEF EXECUTIVE.

Visitors who, from curiosity or business, have called at the White House, must have been impressed by the courteous yet systematic manner in which they were received and escorted through the mansion. The gentiemen whose duty it is to receive all persons coming to the White House are Colonel E. S. Densmore, Mr. John T. Rickard and Mr. T. F. Pendel, and they have occupied their present positions through the various administrations since and even during the war. Mr. Pendel was President Lincoln's body-guard; saw him to his carriage the fatal hight on which he visited Ford's Theatre, and he now has in his possession the blood-staned coat which Mr. Lincoln were on that memorable occasion. There is not a public man in America to-day who does not know, and who is not known by, these gentlemen, and the reminiscences of public and social life which they can recount would fill a Congressional volume. During the weary yet exciting years of the war, through the more peaceful times of Grant's administration, while Hayes beld the reins of Government, and when Garfield was shot, it was these men who stood in the Executive Mansion, welcoming the advent of each new Administration, bowing at its departure, and receiving both martyrs through its portals.

During that long, hot and never-to-be-forgotten summer when President Garfield lay between "two worlds." the Nation became aware of the deadly malarial influence which hung about the White House. But all through that period these three men never deserted their posts for a single day, although cach one was suffering intensely. In conversation with the writer, Colonel Densmore said:

"It is impossible to describe the tortures I have undergone. To be compelled to smit and treat the tousands of visitors who come here daily with courtesy when one is in the greatest agony requires a tremendous effort. "And was Mr. Eickard badly oil, too!"

"I should think he was. Why, time and again we have picked him up and laid him on the mantel, here in the vestibule, he was so used up."

"Yes," exclaimed i.r. Eickard, "I was so weak I could not rise after lying down without help, and could only walk with the aid of two canes, and then in a stooping position. Oh, we have been in a pretty bad condition here, all of us."

"And yet you are all the embodiment of health," said the writer, as he looked at the three bright and visorous

"As a Last Resort." A Little Girl in Albany, N. Y., Terribly Afflicted, Won-

One of the most remarkable cures of sprofuls on record is that of the little daughter of Mr. M. J. Quinn, 285 First.st., Albany. She was afflicted with scrolula from birth, and physicians said it would be better for her if she was dead. Her father says: "She had thirteen running sores on her body, besides being absolutely blind for months. She lost the use of her limbs and could not walk: in fact, was a mere skeleton wasting away. The smell from the sores was terri-ble. Seeing in a newspaper some cases of scrofula cured by Hood's Saraaparilla, I said to myself. 'I will try a bottle as a last resort.' When she had taken the first half bottle I could see a change in her, and when the whole bottle was taken the abscesses simost entirely healed with the aid of Hood's Olive Ointment, which I must say is the finest I ever used. I kept on giving her Hood's Sarasparilla, till now she is well and healthy, running around. She has a splendid appetite. The neighbors don't know what to make of it."—MICHAEL J. QUINN, Authoritative, Accurate, and Complete.

Published in the principal city of the centinent, The Tribune aims to represent all the tent interests, both of the rapidly growing metropolis and the country at large. Railway news, the state of the markets, the progress of real estate in the city, and general business information, are fully reported. Figures are always actual; they are never guessed at. The Tribune pays much attention to club, social, dramatic, musical and literary matters, and to summer travel. European correspondence and dispatches are a strong feature. Complete reports are given of political events. Associated Prese dispatches from all parts of the United States and Europe are supplemented by an abundance of special telegrams forwarded by The Tribune's own correspondents. It is generally admitted that as a family paper The Tribune has no superior. Athletic sports, yachting and racing are fully treated by interesting and accurate writers. The large print and wide columns of The Tribune make it the easiest paper to read in New-York.

The Saturday Tribune, is a ten-page paper (sometimes larger) giving newspaper mails and a strong array of the news of New-York State.

The Sunday Tribune, Only 3 CENTS A COPY, is now generally regarded as the best Sunday paper in New-York. It is strong in local news, foreign correspondence, club gossip, literary matter and fiction. There is now being printed in this issue a piquant and refined American society story, "A Potent Philter," describing the struggles of a young man to withstand the influence of a girl of whom he disapproves. The Sunday Tribune to enorrow will contain an article of special interest and value to all who pay attention to racing, on the handicapping of horses.
